IFPO in Partnership with Dr. Glen Kitteringham PRESENTS:

Train the Security Trainer© (Level I)

Successful supervisors spend a considerable amount of their time training and mentoring security personnel. This is to increase the security guard's effectiveness. Poorly trained supervisors can have a major impact on morale, employee turnover, decreased asset protection program effectiveness and conflict amongst their team. To be successful, supervisors must be themselves exposed to training concepts and given an opportunity to practice these skills in a nurturing environment. This course introduces the following concepts:

- Training concepts
- Professional Self Development
- Domains of Training
- Lesson Plan Design
- Teaching Strategies
- Designing Instruction Plans

The major field exercise requires students to write a lesson plan, deliver a 60-minute training program to others and write a reflective piece on lessons learned.
